II. Selecting a Memorial at a Store Location

If you've never ordered a headstone before or if it's been a long time since you've needed a memorial, you'll be pleasantly surprised at how simple the process is and how rewarding it can be. Here are the steps normally followed but you're the customer so you're in charge. We will work at whatever pace you are comfortable with and will answer any questions you may have as they arise.

If there will be several people involved in the decision making process, we encourage you to come in together so decisions can be made collaboratively.

1. When you visit one of our stores, a staff member will ask you who the memorial is for and what cemetery it will be placed in. To find the Krause Monument location nearest you, call our office at 608-637-7726 or visit the “Locations” section of our website at www.krausemonument.com.
1. After we show you the types of memorials available you will be presented with a selection of granite colors. Granite is a beautiful material and Krause Monument has the largest inventory of granite markers and monuments in Wisconsin. In fact, if you would like to select the exact piece of stone to use for the monument, we can do that at our Viroqua, Wisconsin location at 806 S. Main Street, Viroqua, WI 54665. We’re sure we will have a color you will love. If we don’t, we’ll find it for you.
2. After you have decided on the color, size and style memorial we will lead you through the design discussion. It is helpful if you think about the type of design carving you would like before coming in because there are literally thousands of possibilities. Are you interested in religious ornamentation or something more secular? Did your loved one have a hobby, profession or other passion in life you would like commemorated on the headstone? Is there a specific image you want engraved on the memorial? If you bring in an object or photo that was special to the deceased we can replicate the image on the monument for a very personal tribute.
3. Lastly we will discuss the wording to be engraved on the memorial. The engraving, or inscription, will name the person resting there, provide a historical record and tell something special about the person to everyone who passes by. Think about how you would like the person’s name to read on the headstone. Do you want to use their formal name or something more casual? How about the epitaph? There is something special to say about everyone. If you need some help with ideas, visit the “Epitaphs” section of our website. Be sure to bring in the full dates of birth and death when you visit us. Sometimes these dates can be hard to remember off the top of your head.

III. Phone Orders

Ordering over the phone can be a very simple process.
